GROUP ISSUES

David H. commented on the poor attendance from this (district 8) committee at the last workshop on August 25th, 2001. Three GSRs showed up for this workshop. He felt that this was a ridiculous turn out. We had the Area Alternate Delegate and others driving long distances to put on this workshop and most of this committee don't even bother to show up. That is embarrassing. I am not talking about humility; like we talk about in meetings, I'm talking about down right embarrassing. This committee asked for these workshops and then you don't show up. Tony N. asked for comments. Amy R. commented that even though we are into service and somewhat sober, I think that we need a reminder call. I think it might be a good idea to get a GSR phone list going and call people a day before to remind them. I happened to show up at this one but a lot of times I need to be reminded. We don't need to be anybody's baby sitter but a reminder call might help. Violet M. commented that sometime people get ill and can't make it. Rodney R. commented that this has always been one of the strongest Districts in the Area. And one of the most united Districts. These workshops are not just for the GSR. We should bring two or three people with us to these workshops. Grab a sponsee, a new person at the meeting, anyone who will come and get them to these workshops. There is a purpose for these workshops. If we have one person who picks up something up its worth it. If we spend months working on something and setting up a date people ought to try to get there. When setting these up in the future look for a topic that is needed and will draw a crowd. I don't think that was the case here. Get some people here and get them involved. That's the only way this district is going to grow. There is a lot of time and hard work spent on these workshops. They are there for us to grow spiritually and mentally and in service. As Trusted Servants of our various groups, we have a lot of responsibility on us to carry the message of A.A. to others in our District and in the Area. That is why it is important to be at workshops, district meetings and area meetings. That is how we keep A.A. active in this district, and area. People get enthusiasm for service from workshops. Tony N. commented that apathy is what kills us. Most of the folks that were at the August 25th workshop in Clute were not from the local area. This committee mandated to the DCMs that they do four workshops a year but no one wants to suit up and show up. The GSRs do not get a free ride. These are about your work not the DCMs work. If you are not going to show up and give your support, what is the use in having a workshop? The majority of the people that were at the workshop probably could have done a Sixth Tradition workshop. The people that really needed to know and learn about the Sixth Tradition were the ones that weren't there. That is where the apathy comes in. Glenn B. commented that the reason there were not more people from that area at the Sixth Tradition workshop is probably for the same reason there is more people at the meeting downstairs tonight than there are up here at this service meeting. It's not like that workshop wasn't announced. We can't drag people to the things. Also, look how long it took Bill to get people interested in these Traditions. He pointed out that there were more at this workshop than at the last workshop we had.

OLD BUSINESS

- ❖ 6th Tradition Workshop

David opened the workshop in the usual manner. The presenters Paul M. and Bonita Mc were introduced and the workshop was turned over to them. Paul asked that we go around the room and everyone introduce themselves. Bonita started by reading the sixth tradition in the short and long forms. This was followed by Paul presenting some of the history as to how the traditions were developed. A special emphasis was placed on the events and ideas of early AA members that led to the Sixth Tradition being chartered.

Paul and Bonita related to the group their experiences while working on committees such as Public Information, Correctional Facilities and Cooperation with Professionals. It was emphasized that while doing presentations or making information on Alcoholics Anonymous available to the public we must be very careful not to appear to be affiliated with the hosting organization. We were made aware of how easily the public can and does associate AA with other groups and organizations.

Also discussed was how some groups may affiliate themselves with outside issues by advertising on flyers some activities. These could include dances, raffles, car washes and other fund raising events. The emphasis here is that AA does not have such activities. We should always be self-supporting through our own contributions.

The role of the AA club in relation to the groups was also discussed. Clubs are not groups and some activities at club facilities have nothing to do with the program of Alcoholics Anonymous or the groups that meet there. A good point was made that through sponsorship individuals learn the difference between the group and the club.

About half way through everyone took a break to have chips and sandwiches and enjoy some casual conversation before continuing to the second portion of the workshop.

There was a question and answer session after the break. An "Ask it Basket" was used along with people voicing their questions. We had a good discussion and sharing of ideas by everyone. The following is a general list of questions that were asked : Clubs & how they are governed ; Coffee being sold at meetings by the clubs ; The pie chart for dispersing money from the groups ; Meetings in jails ; Literature distributed and displayed in public places ; Are we promoting AA through the standing committees ; Information at health fairs being displayed on the same table with information on various health issues ; The relation between AA and Intergroup ; Is the "Mouth of the Brazos" convention an outside issue.

Once again we would like to thank Paul and Bonita for the great work they did presenting this workshop. In addition to the presentation pamphlets and GSO guidelines for related topics and the traditions were available for everyone to take with them.

The expenses to put this workshop on were: RENT = $15.00    FLYERS = $40.00    FOOD = $54.88
LITERATURE = $23.62    TOTAL = $133.50

We had a total of 20 people in attendance. Only 3 GSRs from district 81 and 82 attended.
